

HOME COMING DAY CELEBRATION WAS A GLORIOUS AND HAPPY EVENT

Many Weary Exiles Turn Their Faces Towards
Home and Receive the Prodigal's
Welcome

CELEBRITIES BORN HERE MAKE SPEECHES

Ten Thousand People Gather in a Great Family Reunion of Reunions in the Goodly Old
County of Rush

It was a great day, indeed, and the prophesy of "Jim" Watson, who declared last year at the Old Settlers meeting that he would have at least 10,000 people at the next one, was fulfilled and then some. And such a happy throng it was. They were not of the wild cheering and applauding variety, for their hearts were filled, and when things were done and things were said about dear old Rush county, their frames shook with emotion, and their countenances gave evidence of a thrill being sent through their bodies that came direct from a warm and cheerful heart.

It would take a composite write-up of a James Whitcomb Riley, a Booth Tarkington, a Meredith Nicholson, a George Ade and a George Barr McCutcheon—men familiar with the characteristics of Indians—to do justice to the first (but not the last) Rush County Home Coming celebration and Old Settlers' Meeting.

Good cheer, charity and hospitality were the watchwords of the day, and during the part of the program that "Jim" Watson pleased to call "Eating and Visitation," a happier throng, or a more pleasing picture could not be found in all of God's earthly domain, than the multitude seated about in the shade of the great spreading maples, with a feast of plenty in God's banquet hall.

Tottering, silver haired old patriarchs feebly shook the hand of a neighbor they had not seen for forty or fifty years, recalling only the happy incidents and pleasanties of the pioneer days; tales of strife and differences found no place with men yesterday. Gray haired mothers and grandmothers pressed their lips to the children and grand children, the offsprings of their chums of years ago.

Such celebrations can only be conducive to the betterment of man; the inspiring scenes of the good feeling existing between man and man were master pieces of living sermons that told the great stories of brotherly love—the keystone of Christianity.

The meeting opened in a most auspicious manner yesterday morning about 10:30 o'clock, with Old Sol smiling his blandest and nature offering her best. About two thousand persons were present when George Guffin, president of the Old Settlers Meeting, called the assemblage to order. At that time most of those in attendance were older people—they are always prompt.

Everybody joined in singing "America," and he said here, that nothing said or done yesterday was more in keeping with the general spirit of the great crowd than the singing in concert. The Anderson band followed with a selection.

Dr. V. W. Tevis, pastor of St. Paul's M. E. church, offered prayer, asking Divine blessing and guidance throughout the day—and that prayer was surely answered.

Congressman Watson was then introduced and delivered the address of welcome. Mr. Watson spoke briefly and said in part:

"An address of welcome is a superfluous matter. The mere fact that arrangements have been made for your coming here is proof indeed that you are welcome. * * * We are glad to extend this welcome home today, that you may greet the friends of your youth time. You need not be ashamed to come back to the goodly old county of Rush. It stands out first of any county in the State, in more ways than one. Last year, in agriculture, we won the applause and the blue ribbon of the world, for old Richland township down here, raised more corn to the acre than any place in all of God's domain. * * * But the best crop that Rush county ever produced is her sons and daughters—as good as there are in the land. * * * Our home, our hearts, our hands are open to you today, we bid you a hearty welcome. If you don't want, why, a—just a— Everything is yours—the good old county of Rush welcomes you."

ful selection, and these eight fair and talented daughters of Rush were one of the most pleasing numbers on the program.

Hon. John C. Robinson, ex-judge of Owen and Monroe counties, spoke at some length in responding to the address of welcome. The judge is an able man and an interesting speaker, and he declared during his speech that Rush county was not around him, but within him.

The Indianapolis News Newsboys band gave a number of high-class and pleasing band selections, which were appreciated, for if there is any one thing Rush county loves better than a good horse, it is music.

One of the most interesting men that appeared on the platform was the old naval hero, Rear Admiral George Brown, whom Mr. Watson, who was now permanent chairman of the meeting, introduced as the only living captain of fifteen who fought with Farragut at Mobile Bay.

Admiral Brown is a Rush countyite, born and bred for several generations back. His grandparents, on both sides of the house, lived in the locality which is now Milroy, and very few people there were in that township years ago, who did not belong to the Brown or Tompkins clan.

The grand old man spoke in part: "I have a strong aversion of speaking of myself or my experience in the navy, so on this memorable occasion I will eliminate the personal pronoun 'I' and speak only of Admiral Brown—he of the navy * * * I presume that all here are Rush county people or former Rush county people, and if you are not, (pause) you have my sympathy. (Prolonged laughter)."

The admiral spoke of the achievements of his father, William J. Brown, who was elected to the legislature from Rush county before he was 21 years of age, and was afterwards elected Secretary of State, when he was 31 years of age. The interesting old man continued: "I moved away from Rush county when I was eighteen months old, and consequently was not consulted in the matter. At that age I cried a great deal, and nobody could fathom the reason for my continued weeping. But I guess it was because I was being literally carried out of Rush county. (Laughter). * * * But I always found a welcome in Rush county, and was always given the biggest chicken leg and the hottest biscuit on my return. I loved to be here so well, that once I footed it from Martinsville, where I was sent to visit relatives."

Admiral Brown gave a brief summary of his experience in the navy, always speaking of himself as "he." For example he said, "He went into the navy when a young man, and was very fortunate in securing promotions. Such men as Dewey, Sampson, and Schley served under him and were his personal friends."

It did send a thrill over one to see and hear a man of the achievements of Admiral Brown, standing before his former residents and many kind folk, blessing the good old county of Rush, where he first saw the light of day.

The Anderson Male Quartette was a pleasing number on the program, and would have answered a hearty encore, but on account of the length of the program, Chairman Watson was obliged to taboo encores.

Letters of regret were received from Hon. John R. Eden, Judge Eden and Hon. Elbert H. Hubbard. One of the most thoughtful addresses of the day was delivered by Hon. George Gifford, ex-Senator from Tippecanoe county. He not only spoke of the county's achievements and of her people today, but he pulled back the curtain that hung between the now and the past, and there stood the imposing figures of good old Dr. Rush, whom the county was named after; General Pleasant A. Hackleman, who brought honor to Rush county; and Luther Benson, a temperance mover, saving thousands of souls.

other men stood before us—towering monuments, men among men.

Another feature of the day's program was Rev. Francis Thomas, of Dunreith. He is past 85 years of age but he is still carrying the gospel of Jesus Christ to men. Throughout this broad land, there is not a living minister who has preached more sermons than this active Quaker divine, who has been in the pulpit for 65 years. He has conducted upward of one thousand funeral services and has administered to thousands and thousands of hungry souls. He declared that a man's labor sets light on his shoulders if the labor is to his liking, and that despite his age it was not a task for him to preach, but it was rather a pleasure. The quaint old minister, small of stature, was of all the people present the most interesting man to Speaker Joseph Cannon, and he referred to him on several occasions during his speech. In truth the two old men were greatly interested in each other, and they both belong to the same church—the Friends church.

D. M. Parry of Indianapolis, spoke briefly on account of the length of the program, and gave few reminiscences, instead of the speech he had prepared. He said that recently a Rush county man came to Indianapolis, and he was pleased to show him through his mammoth establishment. The man was simply awed by the big manufacturing concern, and when they had made the rounds of the entire plant turned to Mr. Parry and said: "Budd, I knew you when you were a kid and I'll be d—d if I ever thought you would amount to a d—d."

Mr. Parry seemed to enjoy his being here, as did every other individual present. There were smiles and smiles and miles of smiles on the beaming sea of faces of the multitude, and all seemed to speak out of their hearts with the Greek philosopher of old, "It is good to be here." Truly the dial was turned back on the clock of time, and old men and women were children again—it was one great family reunion of reunions.

A Few Home Comelets

Only one thing we overlooked. We should have had a band concert on the court house lawn last night.

Bert Reeves and R. F. Scudder were busy men with the quill yesterday gathering statistics.

How many do you think would have been here if the harvest days were over? How many? No, no hardly 25,000, but we would have had 20,000 sure, by actual count.

Speaker Cannon gave out an interview about "Dog Days" for the Cincinnati Enquirer, that is rich. He is a foxy old man.

Capt. J. H. Mauzy was a "de-lighted" visitor who came from Texas for the occasion.

The I & O. line hauled about 9500 people yesterday without an accident or anything that looked like an accident.

Andersonville holds their Home Coming today and tomorrow.

We are going to let the general news go by the boards today for we want to talk of Home Coming Day. You are with us.

The Rushville band made a good showing in the parade yesterday morning.

It was just "come in" any place on the fairgrounds at noon yesterday.

Everybody was welcome to eat with the Guffins, Newhouses, Norris and other large families present.

Fred Capp introduced "Kid" McCoy to a large number of people on the grounds yesterday in true, old auctioneer style. It was difficult to tell who enjoyed it the most, the "Kid" or Fred.

Watson was a happy man last night. He worked hard for the success of the celebration. With half the energy and thought he put into the meeting, he could land the Governor's chair.

Capt. and Mrs. John K. Gowdy entertained a number of friends last night, honoring Hon. Joseph G. Cannon.

One of our prominent citizens—and whisper one of our leading lights in the local political world that casts a light over the district and State—said last night, after spending several hours with Speaker Cannon: "You can say what you please, but there is just three truly great men before the American people today, and they are Roosevelt, Cannon and Bryan."

Could you drum up a stronger variety of celebrities in any county than we had yesterday? There were statesmen galore, an author and manufacturer, an admiral, soldier, prize fighter, oldest Quaker.

we know that they [were glad to] be here.

Mayor Fred Barrows, of Connersville was pinched here yesterday. In boarding an I. & O. car on the chutes at the fair grounds, his hand was caught between the car and the chutes.

During Cannon's speech yesterday he was obliged to stop when a freight train came puffing and rumbling down the Link hill. "Uncle Joe" said: "The prosperity is so general throughout this country that a man cannot make an hour's speech in the most secluded spot without being interrupted by the wheels of commerce." It went big with the crowd, for it was a clever and appropriate thought.

Some one said the Anderson Quartette got the wrong pitch and sang all the way through on an I. & O. key. Just as they made ready to start their song, an interurban car came along, blew a shrill whistle, and the quartette went off in that key. Nobody enjoyed this bon-mot more than the four singers, when they heard it. A clever crowd of boys—those Madison countyites.

The executive committee, composed of Jim Watson, R. F. Scudder, B. F. Miller, F. J. Hall and Will Bliss, was "all in" last night. They worked hard, but success crowned their efforts.

J. A. Spurrier led the Diapason singers, in the old fashioned way—with a fiddle. The old singing class was one of the big hits of the day.

Didn't it make you feel good, when you saw the generous Rush county people, with well filled baskets, asking people right and left to join them at the noon meal?

A goodly number of prosperous Rush county farmers came in automobiles yesterday. Wonder if they won't attend such meetings, twenty years from now in airships?

"Uncle Joe's" speech was a corker. No where, in the world probably, could a man be found more fitted to deliver an address on such an occasion. Old men and women delight in seeing one advanced in years, so active in both mind and body as "Uncle Joe," and of that plain, democratic disposition. Its an inspiration to elderly people.

Mrs. Phelps, of Carthage, the daughter of the first white child ever born in Ripley township, was one of the Home Comers in attendance yesterday.

Not a single arrest yesterday is the record of yesterday's celebration. City Marshal Price said he did not think he would need any assistance, and he handled the crowd alone. This is a record that we can well feel proud of.

There were almost as many stands, "petty grafters and barkers" on the grounds yesterday as one finds at a county fair.

Edward Hayes, private secretary to Senator Albert J. Beveridge, was in this city yesterday for the Home Coming celebration.

Many old men in the stand yesterday would shake their heads when sizing Cannon and say, "He's another Lincoln,—another Lincoln. Just exactly such a man."

D. M. Parry made a protest in the beginning of his address yesterday, saying that "Jim" Watson made a mistake in stating that he was 62 years old. Mr. Watson quickly replied "meant you were born in '62," and Mr. Parry retorted "Well for that remark, I'm going to help elect you Governor." This brought forth a mighty cheer from the crowd.

One woman became so excited yesterday afternoon when she learned that "Uncle Joe" was starting on his speech, that she handed her nine-months-old baby to a pop corn vender, of whom she was making a purchase, and ran for a "good place" in the grandstand.

A funny incident occurred at the O. H. & D. station last night when "Joe" Cannon left for his home. The friends who accompanied him to the station, were all worn out and taking deep breaths of relaxation, stretched out at full length on the seats in the waiting room but "Uncle Joe" was still smoking and prancing around. Taking a penny from his pocket he dropped it in the weighing machine. His secretary, James Murphy, slipped up and put his foot on the scales and much to "Joe's" surprise—we know him so well now that we call him "Joe"—the dial flew around and stopped at the 185 pound mark.

"By the great hornspoon," exclaimed the Speaker, "185 pounds in the shade. Something wrong here." "No, the scales are correct, Uncle Joe," said Fon Riggs, walking up, "it's this good old Rush county fair and that chicken dinner you devoured that increased your weight." All stayed here a week, you know, and around two hundred pounds.

INTRODUCED BY WATSON

The "Kid" Modestly Bowled to
Today For Michigan

Norman Selby (Kid McCoy) arrived here yesterday afternoon, after driving his racing car from Indianapolis in one hour and ten minutes, and immediately drove his machine to the fair grounds, where he was given a rousing ovation after being introduced by Congressman Watson.

Selby was formerly middle weight champion of the world, and is a nephew of Postmaster Ben L. McFarlan, of this city. He was born in Anderson township, 38 years ago, and removed to Indianapolis when he was but eighteen months of age.

But Rush county has always held a warm place in his heart, and it was with much pleasure that he returned to the old home place yesterday.

Selby is of a modest, retiring disposition and after bowing his respects to the large assemblage in the amphitheatre, he quietly sneaked away, but was afterwards "captured" by Fred A. Capp, who introduced the "Kid" to a number of people. He expressed himself as being de-lighted to be with the plain old folks again, and accompanied by Ben McFarlan, he visited his old home place, near Milroy yesterday even before dinner.

Selby married the widow of a New York millionaire recently, and now conducts a fashionable garage in Gotham. He was accompanied to Rushville by Edward Wilson, a New York City clubman and a "man-about-town."

Selby left today for Mt. Clemens, Michigan, where he will join his wife, who is sojourning there.

FLAGMAN WILL QUIT WORK WITH THE WHISTLE

The five flagmen on the O. H. & D. railroad received notice today from the roadmaster, that beginning tonight, they may quit work at 6:30 o'clock. This will shorten their time of labor 10½ hours each week, without any reduction in salary.

APPEARED BEFORE THE RAILROAD COMMISSION

City Attorney George Young in company with several members of the city council appeared before the State Railroad Commission today, and protested against the proposed improvements which the O. H. & D. railroad company wishes to make on its depot in this city. It is thought that the commission will take action on the matter after the verbal petitions of the councilmen.

AUTOMOBILE TOURING PARTY LEFT HERE TODAY

The Rushville automobile touring party left this morning, their first stop being the Andersonville Home Coming celebration. They will tour Kentucky and Southern Indiana, and visit the Mammoth cave. In the party were Dr. J. C. Sexton and wife and daughter; Mr. and Mrs. Will Bliss; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Churchill and Will McColgin. The Churchill and Sexton machines were used for the tour.

Many old men were seen to embrace each other yesterday and really weep for joy on one another's shoulders.

The Muncie "exiles" returned last night a happy crowd. No disappointments were encountered, but they were all glad they had come and they were still "meeting" old-time friends on the way home. All stayed here a week, you know, and around two hundred pounds.

SLOW MULE HAS NOT COME IN YET

The Contests at the Fair Grounds Proved Interesting and Amusing.

The prizes awarded at the Home Coming celebration yesterday were as follows:

Oldest man present—James H. Foxworthy, 90 years.
Oldest man present—born in Rush county—George Newhouse, 85 years.
Oldest lady present—Margaret Stewart, 86 years.

Oldest lady present, born in Rush county—Mrs. B. F. Tingley, 83 years.
Willy Shine, a colored boy, captured the greased pig, and also carried away a shining smile for porkchops.

Willie Bennett, brother of James Gordon, won the foot race, by a nose.

As there was only one entry in the mule race—the Dagler donkey—it was sent around the track against time, and it has not come in yet.

Any one wishing to change their presents of umbrellas or canes may do so at Secretary Scudder's office.

BLOW THE WHISTLE AND SHOW BEGINS

Everything Ready For Opening of Local Chautauqua
Friday Night

With a trip and a vim the Rushville Chautauqua will open Friday night. A force of men were engaged today in erecting the large tent which will seat nearly twice as many people as were accommodated last year. The city park has been fenced in and everything is in readiness.

At seven o'clock on Friday evening the Chautauqua will open with a concert by the Rushville band. The Central Lyceum Mixed Quartette will then take the platform for half hour. This is a musical organization of great merit and one of the vocalists is well known in this city.

Herbert Leon Cope, the humorist, will give "The Smile That Won't Come Off," and if he lives up to his reputation he will put the same kind of a smile on every dyspeptic in the audience.

OLD SETTLERS MEETING OFFICERS WERE ELECTED

The officers elected for the Old Settlers meeting next year are as follows: President, Thomas J. Humes; vice president, F. J. Hall; secretary, A. G. Reeves; treasurer, Frank Buell; executive committee, Fon Riggs, Rush Budd and R. F. Scudder.

LOCAL COMPANY WILL GIVE A STREET DRILL

Ivy Company, Uniform rank, "K. of P.", is making preparations to go into camp at Indianapolis next week. They will have a public drill on the streets today.

PAINFULLY INJURED AT CHAUTAUQUA GROUNDS

Martin Griffiths, a carpenter, was painfully injured at the Chautauqua grounds this morning by cutting an ugly gash in his hand which required the attention of a physician, who took several stitches in it.

—Dr. J. H. Lail, of Anderson, was here with the merry bunch yesterday. The doctor formerly carried messages for the Western Union in this city when a boy, and had an interesting chat with "Bud" Parry, for whom he used to the "slow messenger act" with the yellow envelopes.

—Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Carpenter, of Greenfield, were the guests of his brother John Carpenter of this city yesterday.

CANNON MADE A GREAT SPEECH

Distinguished Speaker Held
Vast Audience Spell Bound
With Flow of Oratory

COVERED MUCH GROUND

And Dealt with Facts in One of the Best Speeches Ever Heard Here

Eight thousand people crowded into the grand stand and on to the speakers' platform at the fair grounds Wednesday afternoon to hear the address delivered by the Hon. Joseph Cannon, speaker of the House of Representatives, who delivered the principal address at the Rush County Home Coming Day exercises. A better orator could not be found in the whole United States to deliver an address of this nature, for as "Uncle Joe" stated Wednesday afternoon, he is an old settler and his life has not been without the toils of those hardy forefathers who labored years ago to clear the forests and to build log cabin homes for their families.

Even the general appearance of Speaker Cannon was an inspiration to the large audience and his flow of oratory about the days of past caused scores of old men to think of the days when hardships were theirs, which were characteristics of the old settlers of this State.

TELLS STORY OF OLD SETTLER.

In beginning his address which lasted for almost two hours, Mr. Cannon told a story which he once heard in an old "spelling school," about a man whose former home was in Rush county. "An old preacher," said Mr. Cannon, "arose and asked all the people present who wished to go to heaven to stand up. 'Well, I every one got up except one man and he never stirred. The preacher then asked the people to sit down, and requested all those who wished to go to hell to arise. No one got on their feet, not even the man who had remained seated before. The preacher then asked the one man who had remained seated the first time, 'Sir, if you don't mind telling me, if you don't want to go to heaven or hell, I wish you would state where you do want to go,' and the reply was, 'I want to go back to Rush county.'"

GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP OF RAILROADS.

One of the greatest points made in Speaker Cannon's speech Wednesday was against the government ownership of railroads. Mr. Cannon told of the times in the early history of Indiana when it was almost impossible for the people to sell their products on account of the lack of means in transportation. The people desired to ship their products to available markets, and to have their goods brought to them, but at that time this was almost an impossibility. Mr. Cannon stated that at one time Indiana almost became a part of Spain, the people desiring to get an outlet to the Mississippi river in order to be able to ship the products of the land to market.

"In 1836," said Mr. Cannon, "you appropriated $18,000,000 for the construction of canals and railroads, but mostly for canals. You did not build many canals for they were not profitable. Your wheat, your cattle, and your hogs were worthless on account of not being able to secure a market for them, and it was at that time that the middle west almost joined itself to Spain in order to get an outlet to the Mississippi river. The scheme of interior improvement failed in Indiana. This is a government of the people, for the people and by the people, and the life of such a nation depends upon the unit. It takes all units to make the whole. Whereas if you take from one unit its power to hustle and the chance for him to better his condition, you take from him that incentive for action."

"For that reason," said the Speaker, "I will take this stand as long as this is a government of the people, I will oppose the government ownership of railroads for many reasons, and this is one of them; because in Germany ninety per cent of the railroads are owned by the government and the cost of transportation in Germany is four times as great as it is in the United States, when Germany is only as large as Indiana, Ohio, Illinois and Michigan. The history of government ownership is the history of failures."

"Who owns the railroads? The plutocrats and rich men you answer. Nay, nay, my friends the majority

BOTH CLAIMING IT

Senatorial Contest In Mississippi Promises Sensational Developments.

ALL SORTS OF RUMORS RIFE

Allegations That Ballot Boxes Have Been Lost or Destroyed Figure In Exciting Contest.

John Sharp Williams Appears to Be In the Lead But Vardaman Is Still Hopeful.

Jackson, Miss., Aug. 8.—The Democratic state executive committee met here today at noon for the purpose of canvassing the returns and declaring the result of the recent primary held in this state for United States senator and state offices. So close is the race in the senatorial contest that interest is at fever heat and all sorts of conjectures are made as to what the day will bring forth. The committee met in the senate chamber at 12 o'clock and representatives of both the senatorial candidates were on hand, as well as those of the gubernatorial candidates who are conceded the highest vote. E. F. Noel is apparently in the lead, with Earl Brewer a close second, but Charles Scott is not at all satisfied with the result and has announced that he will demand a recount of the vote.

For the past day or so, there have been all sorts of rumors of destroyed ballots and lost ballot-boxes, but when traced down these reports have been found to be without foundation. It was said that a lot of the ballot-boxes in Copiah, a county which gave Governor Vardaman a majority of 251 over Congressman John Sharp Williams in the senatorial contest, had been burned, but the secretary of the county executive committee last night certified that this was not so and that every precinct had been re-counted, and that every ballot was safe in the hands of the proper officials. The meeting today promises to be sensational, there being some predictions that trouble will arise in the event any compromise measures are resorted to. Both candidates are claiming that a canvass of the vote will show their elections, Vardaman by a bare majority, while Williams's friends claim it by at least 1,000.

Mr. Williams arrived in the city yesterday, but would make no statement other than that he was elected. Congressman E. J. Bowers of the Coast district is also here in Mr. Williams's interest, as are also several of his friends from North Mississippi, where Governor Vardaman received some of his largest majorities and it is said, they have some startling evidence in their possession concerning the Vardaman vote in that section which will be produced in the event the governor demands a recount. The Vardaman men also claim irregularities.

A Montecarlo Sensation.

Montecarlo, Aug. 8.—The evidence secured here indicates that Therese Williams, parts of whose body were found in a trunk and in a valise at Marseilles, and who was a well-known frequenter of the gaming tables here, was murdered for her jewels. Mr. and Mrs. Gold, who are English, and who owned the trunk and valise, will be extradited from Marseilles to Montecarlo and will be tried here.

Mystery Surrounds Case.

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 8.—Mystery surrounds the attempted suicide of a well-dressed young Russian who slashed his throat with a pocket knife and leaped through a window of a toilet room of a Lake Shore train near Elkhart. Nearly dead of loss of blood the young man was taken to a hospital. He is believed to be Isaac Relich-instein of Elyria, O. He said he was on the way to Salt Lake City.

Chinamen Caught on Border.

El Paso, Tex., Aug. 8.—Eleven Chinamen, who had succeeded in crossing the Rio Grande, four miles east of El Paso, were captured in the rear of the Eastern Grill on El Paso street, a Chinese restaurant. Thirteen other Chinamen caught here are under sentence of deportation. Seven Japanese, who swam the Rio Grande at Bon-quillas, 200 miles east of here, were brought here and lodged in jail.

Building Trades on Strike.

Washington, Aug. 8.—A general strike of the building trades workmen of this city went into effect at 10 o'clock this morning as the result of the decision of the local bricklayers' union in voting to join the other building trades which have already voted for a strike. The strike will affect about 700 men. No government works of importance is interfered

BINGHAMTON MAN IN LUCK

"Jones of Binghamton" was in town last night, not he who "pays the freight," but John C. Jones, as he registered at the Scanlan House.

For a few hours Jones was sad and despondent, and was not afraid to tell his troubles. Later in the day he was the happiest stranger within our gates, when he came up to the clerk of the Scanlan House and whispered, "I found 'em; got 'em down at Hargrove & Mullin's. Now I can eat a good dinner and look forward to smoking a Wadsworth Bros." "Chico" afterwards, Hargrove & Mullin says they have not had the "Chico" in stock very long, but they are already making a lot of friends. "Strange how homesick it makes a man to lean over a cigar case and not see a brand that he ever heard of before. That was the way I felt all day, but when I went into Hargrove & Mullin's and saw my old friend, the Wadsworth Bros. 'Chicos,' I knew there was something coming to yours truly. Five cents, but there is no other as good, and I have

Tries to Catch a Weasle With Tanglefoot

W. F. Jackman, the wall paper hanger, fish vender and leader of the marshaled hosts of the Socialist party in this county, had fifty of the finest chickens that ever graced a hen house roost the other day, and was planning "a chicken trust" but now his hopes are laid low, for some kind of a wild animal—the "Call of the Wild"—entered his chicken house and destroyed the fowls.

Sixteen chickens were killed Sunday night by a weasle, and Mr. Jackson formed a unique plan to catch Mr. Weasle. Last night he placed a row of two sheets of Tanglefoot fly paper around his chicken house, and came to town to tell his friends of his new weasle trap. He expected to return home early in the evening to watch over his hens, but unfortunately he engaged in a socialistic argument and preached socialism on the streets until an early hour this morning. Upon returning he went to his chicken house to see if the weasle had been caught, but was greeted with the smell of fresh blood, for his chickens were no more—and some one had made away with the fly paper, too. Thus the Socialist's hopes for a trust vanished.

Defrauded.
That this is a world of disappointments Mrs. Green had long ago learned, but she found one more disappointment to add to her list during her visit to her daughter-in-law.

"I declare, you never can count on what folks will do, and you might just as well give up first as last," she said dejectedly to Mr. Green on her return.

"There I counseled them to name that baby Emma Louisa for aunt, and what do you suppose aunt has done already?"

Mr. Green professed himself unable to conjecture.

"She's willed away the Bunker Hill teapot and the Paul Revere sugar tongs to the Historical folks," said Mrs. Green bitterly. "And I expect nothing but what the blue and white counterpane will go next, and there'll be that poor helpless baby without a single inheritance to her name."
